Founder's Foreword and Executive Summary

Dear Friends

As Books for All enters its 10th year, I feel grateful that we're not growing in years alone but in our ability to take up new challenges.

Last year we sponsored the education of a young girl to a vocational course. Little did we know then that we would immediately get a young sponsor, Ayushi, who had just begun working at Visa in Bangalore after completing her engineering degree.

We took up career counselling at Bhavani Shankar Inter College despite a number of challenges with the thought that even if a handful of students could be helped it would have been a worthwhile effort. We emphasized on vocational courses which could lead to skills and employment particularly for students who cannot wait to complete their degrees to earn a livelihood. We're glad that we have been able to provide guidance to so many students and that a number of them have come forward to take up vocational courses.

We continue to mould young minds in our libraries cum creativity centers. I felt on top of the world when teachers of one of the government schools said that not only the knowledge of the students but even their IQ had increased! I'd love to believe that efforts have indeed increased the IQ of students but I am sure that we do bring out their potential not just in academics but in extracurricular activities also.

We could achieve so much because of the unstinted support of our well-wishers, Donors and dozens of volunteers who continued to give their valuable time for welfare of underprivileged children

I hope you enjoy leafing through the pages of this Annual Report, which contains a brief account of our activities. It would be good to hear your ideas and even better to associate with you in some way!

Cheers!

Books for All (BFA) owes its existence to the Corporates Individuals and NGOs who fund and support its various activities.

I. Individuals Donors and Volunteers

A number of individuals provide financial assistance to support its various initiatives. Their donations, big and small, are the life line of Books for All. Many others devote their time and volunteer in the libraries, coach and mentor students at home or help in planning and decision making.

II. Association with Corporates and NGOs

Several like-minded organizations also support us in a number of ways. They give monetary donations and sponsor the Library cum Creativity centres. They organise events, distribute books & material, other necessities such as sweaters, depute volunteers, etc. Their monetary donations are invaluable. Even greater is their association with the children that exposes them to a world that they have no access to otherwise. Books for All received support from the following organizations in 2018-19:

Corporates

1. Sopra Steria
2. Capgemini
3. Velocis Systems Pvt Ltd
4. Optum
5. Mangnon-egplus

6. Monoclick Systems Pvt Ltd
7. Cadence Design Systems
8. Nasscom Foundation

A list of key donors, both Individuals and Corporates is placed at Annexure.

4. Inception and Journey So Far

Inception

Our Journey began on 30th January 2010 at Government Primary School, Village Gejha, Sector 93, Noida. A room provided by the school was stocked up with used books. The idea was to inculcate the habit of reading among poor children who had no access to story books. Volunteers started visiting the library to read books to the children. They found that many children, even those in 4th and 5th grade could not read or write. They had no access to art and craft material and their talents were hidden even from themselves. There was no concept of a sports day or a fun day! School was drudgery, so they relieved boredom by being rowdy. The volunteers wanted to make a real difference, but to do this, funds were required. For a year, the library was managed with the volunteers' own funds. Books for All was registered Public Charitable Trust on 10th February 2011.

The Journey

What started as a small initiative to spread the joy of reading became something bigger. The library became a Library cum Creativity Centre where children could not only read books but create art and craft, sing and dance and learn so many different things. As help started coming in, BFA opened more such centres. The first Library became the model for future Libraries, a model which is a Sustainable, Replicable & Scalable. We decided to keep our operations simple & low cost to reach out to maximum children.

Today BFA has 6 Library cum Creativity Centres and caters to over 2000 students. We have Library cum Creativity centres in the following 6 schools in urban villages of NCR:

- i. Government Primary School, Village Gejha, Noida
- ii. Government Primary & Junior School, Village Sadarpur, Noida
- iii. Government Primary & Junior School, Village Sultanpur, Noida

- iv. Government Primary & Junior School, Village Shahpur, Noida
- v. Anglo Indian Public School, Madanpur Khadar, SaritaVihar, New Delhi
- vi. Government Primary School, Bhangel, Dadri Road, Noida

These schools cater to poor children. Their parents are mostly migrants from Eastern UP, Bengal, Orissa & Bihar. They are daily wage earners or own petty stalls selling Tea / Vegetables etc or have jobs paying meagre wages.

Education in the schools is free. The Government also provides mid day meals, which is one reason why the poor send their children here. But coming to school alone is no guarantee that they learn nor that they enjoy coming to school. This is where the Libraries set up by Books for All are making a difference. Our libraries have all those things that children need to make them happy- a cheerful ambience, and librarians and volunteers who engage children in so many different ways to make them knowledgeable, confident, inquisitive and bring out the best in them. This is in line with our tag line “we don't teach we educate”

I. Libraries Cum Creativity Centres

The Library is in a room provided by the school. The Library Room is cheerfully painted and provided with simple furniture, doors, white board, green board, soft boards, charts, lots of beautifully illustrated story books, as well as art and craft material. The schools earmark a Library period for each class. Every Library has a full time Librarian. The library period is used to encourage children to read books. it is also a place where remedial classes are conducted for weak students and a host of other activities are conducted.

II. Sponsored Children

In the process of close interaction with children, BFA has had the opportunity to spot those who are bright and eager to put in their best. BFA formed an ability group to mentor them and finally relocated them from Government Primary School Gejha to a CBSE affiliated English Medium Public School. Currently 7 children are sponsored to this school. Books for All has also sponsored the education of 6 girls to a good Hindi medium school. This year all six girls passed the 10th Board examination with FIRST DIVISION. Our success has spurred us into admitting two more deserving girls to class IX this year. We are coaching and mentoring all our sponsored students and handholding them in their academics and co-curricular activities to help develop them into well rounded individuals. Our well-wishers meet the expenses by sponsoring these students.

III. Career Counselling and Vocational Training

Books for All has recently embarked upon a new venture- counselling for students of a Government inter college with a strength of nearly 3000 students.

In our interaction with government school children, we realized that there are three major deficit areas apart from a holistic education, that hinder the progress of the students of such schools - Lack of counselling to guide them in their choice of education and career, lack of soft skills and the ability to speak decent English.

We have begun interventions in a small way by sharing the various avenues available to students after Class XII and exposing them to job oriented vocational training courses. As a pilot BFA has sponsored one student to a vocational course in “Dress Designing and Tailoring” at the Air Force Vocational College in New Delhi.

We have already identified several institutes offering short to medium term vocational courses. We may also consider sponsoring a few bright students who can't afford fee for these courses. This is a natural extension of our efforts to enrich education of lesser privileged students.

Experts from Airforce Vocational College, Vivo Health Care, GMR Varalakshmi & Army Recruitment Board visited the College & interacted with students to make them aware of a wide array of Vocational Courses they can choose, depending on their interests. We are hopeful that around a dozen students may join some of the vocational courses which we have shortlisted.

Our Career Counselling & Vocational Training vertical is being spearheaded by Senior Member Mr Rajendra Gupta IIT (Kharagpur)1964.

IV. Engagement with Volunteers, Corporates and Other NGOs

Books for All is run largely with the help of Volunteers. Most of its volunteers are home makers who spare their valuable time for a cause. They teach, train, conduct activities and guide the librarian. Due to their involvement, the library becomes a creativity centre where children learn art, craft, singing dancing and gain knowledge on a host of subjects. Learning is organic and fun.

We also have corporate volunteers who visit our centres to conduct a host of activities such as Sports Day, health and hygiene awareness, painting and craft competitions etc. other NGOs partner with us to generate awareness on different issues. Student volunteers from schools and colleges teach on holidays and during school vacations. Some intern with us for 15 days to a month.

Individual Donations are our backbone and highly valued. During the year, we also got assistance from several Corporates, SopraSteria, Capgemini, Cadence Design Systems, Velocis Systems, Optum (United Health Group), Nasscom Foundation & Benevity Causes. These Corporate Houses and individuals helped us financially, sponsored students, sponsored our Libraries, sponsored activities and events, deputed volunteers and organised events etc.

5. Impact

- Developing Reading Habits is our core area and by providing quality books we are able to encourage over 2000 students in our six Libraries to develop interest in reading books. Within a few days of opening a library we find children being drawn like magnets towards the library. Some cut short their lunch period to read or flip through books. Even those who cannot read take books and try to read them.
- By organizing remedial classes BFA ensures that every child in the schools that we are present in, is literate.
- Educating a Girl Child is a big challenge in Indian Villages. We counsel parents to continue the education of their daughters by highlighting the importance of education
- Activities such as public speaking, art and craft, dance and drama transform the personalities of the children and academic activities such as science quiz, math quiz, atlas quiz, earth day etc increase their knowledge. Diwali and Christmas celebrations, Sports day etc spread cheer and bring joy to their lives.
- Visits of Volunteers, drawn from various segments of society, also have a transformational impact. They are exposed to a world beyond their boundaries. This broadens their outlook.
- Children are taught good manners, discipline and the need to keep their school premises clean. From a bunch of rowdy youngsters, in a few months children learn to be well mannered and responsible.
- Children are encouraged to learn English as this is useful for them. Volunteers teach them phonetics and spellings and talk with them in English.
- By organizing programs on Girls Hygiene, Safety, Pollution etc Books for All is positively impacting the ecosystem.
- Books for All is encouraging Volunteerism amongst corporates, who depute their executives to work with children. Several students from Public schools and colleges also volunteer with BFA. This has a positive impact on both sides; children learn new things and volunteers get the joy of giving and are humbled by the happiness of children who have so little.
