We Don't Teach, We Educate

Volume 11, Issue No 8: August 2026

Inauguration of Info Edge Library

On July 30, our Library and Creativity Centre at Govt. Primary School, Gejha, Noida, hosted a special visit from the Info Edge team, led by Mr. Harveen Singh Bedi. Set up with Info Edge's support, the center continues to be a vibrant space for reading and interactive learning.

The visitors toured classrooms, enjoyed a student performance, and engaged warmly with eager young learners. Students proudly demonstrated their growth and creative skills.

In addition to sponsoring our Gejha and Bhangel library centers through their CSR initiative, Info Edge has generously supported Project SPARSH, funding essential Braille and tactile assistive materials for visually impaired students. We are deeply grateful for their ongoing partnership.

From Learner to Lawyer : Deeksha's journey

Deeksha, the daughter of a vegetable vendor supporting a family of seven, first connected with Books For All (BFA) during a high school career counseling session. Recognizing her ambition, BFA guided her into skill training, helping her secure her first job earning ₹10,000 monthly, which soon grew to ₹16,000.

Determined to pursue her dream of studying law, Deeksha funded her own legal education through her earnings. Presently, she is assisting an attorney at a Delhi Court. Beyond achieving financial independence, she now supports her family and funds her siblings' education.

"I am grateful to BFA for believing in me," says Deeksha. Her journey shows how timely support empowers individuals to transform their lives and uplift entire families.

Expanding Literacy Across India with WHL

Books For All's Wall Hanging Library (WHL) initiative is transforming rural education by bringing engaging reading materials directly into village classrooms across India. Designed for easy access, these compact libraries break geographical and language barriers to inspire young minds.

1,400 WHLs Installed: Transforming classrooms in remote village schools nationwide.

140,000 Books Distributed: Each WHL unit is equipped with 100 carefully curated titles.

9 Regional Languages: Enabling children to read, comprehend, and learn in their native languages.

140,000+ Students Impacted: Reaching an average of 100 eager young readers per school.

By delivering multi-lingual books straight to underserved communities, our WHL initiative ensures that every child, regardless of location, gets the opportunity to explore, imagine, and grow through the power of reading.

Vocational Training Highlights

Books For All's vocational training programs continue to empower youth with market-relevant skills, creating clear pathways to employment and independence. Through July, 88 students have been enrolled across seven specialized courses for this academic year.

Paramedical: 30 students

Beauty & Makeup: 14 students

Graphic Design: 11 students

Movie Making: 11 students

Basic Computers & Communication: 11 students

Hospital Management: 9 students

Fashion Design: 2 students

By offering diverse skill tracks—from healthcare to creative arts—we equip young adults with practical expertise to build sustainable careers and secure their financial futures. The choice of vocations is also indicative of changing career preferences. Both Hospital Management and Movie Making, introduced only this year, have attracted quite a few students.
